

Flowers for Heroes

Welcome to the Flowers for Heroes program. Thank you for taking the time to learn more about the challenging projects that we are about to undertake.

It is important that the brave men and women who died defending our freedom are never forgotten and the memories of their courageousness live on. Equally important are the families they left behind, often struggling to make ends meet because of the sacrifices their loved ones made for our country.

Flowers for Heroes was created in an effort to honor those who died protecting our freedom as Americans and support their families as they struggle with their loss. We recognize that Gold Star families need our support and, and have developed a rewarding way to raise funds to provide that assistance.

Our mission is to place over 90,000 red, white, and blue bouquets on the headstones at National Cemeteries, such as Arlington National Cemetery, Antietam National Cemetery, Gettysburg National Cemetery, and Normandy American National Cemetery. These efforts are made possible through donations and the support of our fellow Americans. The money generated will be provided to organizations affiliated with Gold Star Families across our nation.

A top-notch team of individuals have collaborated to make this program a reality. Please join us in remembering, honoring, and taking care of the families they have left behind.

What is Gold Star?

A gold star mom, dad, spouse, fiancé, grandparent, sibling, cousin, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece or close friend has lost a loved one while serving for our everyday liberties... liberties that so many people take for granted.

Those lost during war are not faceless people or statistics. They are someone's loved family member.

It is the goal of Flowers for Heroes, to provide support for the spouses and children of those who lost their lives while serving in the Armed Forces of the United States.

Background

The origin of the Gold Star insignia goes back to 1917, when U.S. Army Captain Robert L. Queisser created a banner to honor his two sons who were serving in World War I⁽¹⁾. A service banner is decorated with a star for each family member in the military; a Blue Star represents living service members, and those who lost their lives were honored with a Gold Star.

The idea of the Gold Star was that the honor and glory accorded the person for his supreme sacrifice in offering for his country, the last full measure of devotion and pride of the family in this sacrifice, rather than the sense of personal loss which would be represented by the mourning symbols⁽²⁾. It is through this symbol that the stories of those brave heroes live on and will never be forgotten.

Why Gold Star Needs Our Support

While we honor those men and women who have died serving our country, our support often falls short when it comes to the families of those brave soldiers. These are the men, women, and children whose lives have been turned upside down by their loved ones' sacrifice. Most people can't comprehend their daily struggle.

By showing our support to Gold Star families, our American soldiers can rest assured that their families will be supported if the worst should happen.

Although the honor of a Gold Star cannot make up for losing a loved one in war, it can help show a family that the nation cares about their loss. Through all the pain and suffering, the families of our fallen heroes remain dedicated to the patriotism their loved ones fought for. After all, it is their support that allows us to remain the greatest fighting force in the world.
